WITH IT'S
MOST SCENIC 70 MILES IN THE WORLD

The Cody Stampede. Cody is a Cow Town. Early in July each year Cody "busts its britches" with the annual Cody Stampede, where for several days the nation's top cowboys compete against the roughest, toughest, meanest rodeo stock to be found in America. An outgrowth of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show, the Stampede ranks as one of the oldest and most colorful in the West. Reservations and information may be obtained by writing The Cody Club.

Cody's Wild West Show EVERY NIGHT DURING JULY AND AUGUST

Cody people are genuinely hospitable and generous. Proud of their heritage, they love to share it and each night during the summer Cody puts on its own famous Wild West Show. Portraying the last and the best of the roaring old West as only Westerners know it, the Wild West Show is a wallowing thrill to be enjoyed by old and young alike. Follow the gay and colorful western parade any evening on Cody's main drag to the Stampede grounds. No reservations necessary.

Cody Road Most Scenic 70 Miles in the World. Cody, "Broadway of the West," guards the Eastern Entrance to the fabulous Yellowstone National Park. A spectacular, modern highway links Cody with the East Gate to the Park. The road is a source of never-ending surprise and beauty. It winds through a wonderland of mountains, forests and streams and includes the always-to-be-remembered Shoshone canyon, Buffalo Bill dam and reservoir. Appropriately called "the most scenic seventy miles in the world," the Cody road to Fishing Bridge in Yellowstone Park is a drive not to be equalled throughout your western visit.

The Cody Country

The Cody Country is the best known area in America. It's God's Country. Thanks to the foresight of William F. Cody—"Buffalo Bill"—the town hugs the beautiful Shoshone Valley, surrounded by snow-capped mountains: Carter, Cedar, Rattlesnake, Dead Indian and Heart; with the chameleon-like McCollough Peaks caressing the Eastern skyline. Cody nestles like a precious stone in a jewel box.

Shoshone, Arapahoe, Bannock, Sioux and Crow Indians actually located the townsite. These tribes, some on war mission, some pleasure bent, camped here—gambled, horse-raced, played games and established it as a rendezvous in the early times. Indians knew the curative value of the sulphur hot springs adjacent to Cody. They named the river "Stinking Water" to describe the mineral water's fragrance. Their tepee rings, quaint symbols of another civilization, the level flat where they met to play and display their skills, all are here for visitors to see and explore.

A thriving, prosperous business center, Cody is also school and church conscious. Here in the land of high altitude and low multitude, where canary birds sing bass, the handclasp is a little stronger, the friendships last a little longer. Here in the Buffalo Bill Country, visitors find the real West living huskily in the heart of America. We welcome you to stop and call on your way to Yellowstone.

Big Game Hunting and Fishing. As a sportsman's paradise, the Cody Country leads the nation with fabulous big game. The world's largest herds of wild animals roam the countryside. Moose, elk, deer, buffalo, antelope and bear are to be hunted in season. Fishing in lake and trout stream is excellent all year-round. Mountain forest trails provide safe horse-pack trips to the famous Thorofare country, the world's largest and most impressive hunting ground, teeming with wild game, fowl and fish. Arrangements for hunting, fishing or pack trips can be made through The Cody Club.

Dude Ranches.

ranching and the Buffalo Bill Country are synonymous. Meeteetse (Indian name for "Nearby"), Southfork, Northfork and Sunlight Basin harbor the ultimate in dude and guest ranches. These facilities are beautifully located in the higher surrounding mountain area. Guests from over the globe find rest, comfort, exhilarating climate, and soul tonic here in our mighty Rockies.

Buffalo Bill Museum. Cody, Buffalo Bill's Home Town, shelters the beautiful bronze equestrian statue pictured here, along with the famous Buffalo Bill Museum. Both are located on the main highway at the west end of town and the traveler will enjoy stopping to see the many interesting relics of Buffalo Bill and the pioneer and Indian days of the West. The finest collection of its kind in America.
